THE NEW SCHOOL LAW.

SYNOPSIS OF THE CHANGES IN THE NEW SYSTEM.

Trustees and Teachers of Ohio County Would do Well to Read Carefully and Profit Thereby.

IMPORTANT CHANGES.

In view of the fact that it will be several weeks before the new school law can be placed in the hands of the trustees and teachers throughout the county, we publish this week the most important changes as given by Senator Stewart of the "Home and School."

It will be published from time to time, as the law is changed.

1. A term of at least six months must be taught in each district.

2. School population must be equalized in each district as far as possible.

3. Trustees must file claims with the county clerk, from which the county superintendent can verify the claims.

4. Teachers are to be furnished with a certain square of at least four years' work, in which teachers are to keep certain permanent records of their pupils and schools. These are to be kept by the county clerk and by the chairman of the board of trustees where schools are not in session, and are, in addition, to be furnished at the end of each year to the county superintendent.

5. County Superintendents, in their annual visits, must examine teachers' records and see that all records are properly kept.

6. School houses erected hereafter must be of a certain square feet for each pupil in the district, be at least ten feet between floor and ceiling, and have at least four windows.

7. Each school house, those now erected included, must have a lock and key for each door, and be furnished at least with a certain amount of blackboard, glass, furniture and apparatus.

8. Fiscal counts are required to be kept by the county clerk, a suitable office for the county superintendent sufficiently large to accommodate the county superintendent's office must be established in each county.

9. At least one teacher's association must be organized in each district.

10. Trustees cannot contract with teachers before the new board is organized.

11. All white trustees must be able to read and write.

12. Special information upon the nature and effect of alcoholic liquors and other offenses is required.

13. Teachers must be of respectable moral character, and no teacher must be given to profanity, drunkenness or immorality.

14. The minimum school fund for life is to be issued by the State upon a rigid examination to persons of high literary attainments. State certificates for four years may be issued by the county and State board jointly. These diplomas can be revoked by the State superintendent on any ground.

15. After this year a second-class certificate will be issued to persons of high literary attainments. State certificates for four years may be issued by the county and State board jointly. These diplomas can be revoked by the State superintendent on any ground.

16. Trustees can pay a fourth of a three year tax if they wish and are not to pay a million tax to any of the individuals where three year tax heretofore levied has proved insufficient.

17. In cases of emergency, trustees are authorized in their corporate capacity to borrow a limited amount of money.

18. County Superintendents must be at least 25 years of age.

19. Members of the county board of examiners must hold at least a first-class certificate.

20. County Superintendents and trustees are authorized in a limited way to enforce the attendance at school of at least 95 per cent. of all school children.

21. Additional restrictions are thrown around the preparation of questions for examination of teachers and for oral examinations also, and a heavy penalty is imposed for unlawfully refusing, delaying or even attempting to dispose of these questions.

22. The State Board is directed to prepare a plan for grading all the counties of the State.

23. Better arrangements are made for supplying indigent children with free text books.

24. Text books must be sold to the pupils and pupils of our schools as they are sold by the same publishers to the patrons and pupils of any other State or section of the country.

25. The minimum pay of the County Superintendents was reduced from ten to eight cents for each pupil child reported.

26. The time for the election of the County Superintendents was changed from November, 1904, to November, 1905.

27. The original clause which provided for teachers' institutions of not less than five days was changed to "not less than three nor more than five days."

28. The original clause requiring County Superintendents to employ

CONGRESS TO CONVE.

Highest of all in Leaving Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED FOR AUGUST SEVENTH.

The President Grants the Demand for an Early Session to Adjust the Disturbances of Values.

THE PRESIDENT'S DECISION.

(Special Correspondence of THE HERALD.)

The demands of all sections of the country were great when President Cleveland was willing to take the responsibility of calling an extra session of Congress to assemble on Monday the 14th of August. The plan appears to be that the disturbances of values arising from the necessities of the business situation grow so alarming that Mr. Cleveland at last was constrained to believe that the exigencies of the situation required an earlier meeting of Congress, which he took in his celebrated letter of June 14, last.

"Oh, only about $17,000," he replied, "but I don't want to see the money lost to the tip of the water at my last home."

Questions and Answers.

A story which has been going the rounds lately is that of another.

has been sent to us, but it was written by a man who was not a member of the cabinet and who had no right to be so.

Correspondents will please remember that a clear, concise and favorable statement in a newspaper other than one that is not a member of the cabinet.

One of the most interesting values, if not the most interesting, is the value of the dollar.

It is not intended to deny the fact that the author of the story referred to is the author of the story referred to.

Another thing that many persons have forgotten to do is to read the President's articles sent for publication.

For instance, the "widow" who asked for a short notice of her husband's death, and who was not a member of the cabinet.

ing every inducement to builders and capitalists and the chances are that the building, the structure of the future, will be one of the most important towns on the road.
Kelly is still holding the quarry down and sending it corner stones for the biggest bridge in the county. Myer & Hickey are getting the stone in good shape and Mike wears a smile. He says he will soon get to rest, as a few days will complete his stone work. It has been a big job, about 1,500 cubic yards of masonry besides in feet in depth of foundation.

Wide Awake!
First in the Field!
WITH OUR NEW

In a small village near from New York, a man, my parents to name a few words will, a son of my father, had not been at his work when one evening we were preparing for the night my sister discovered a small insect in the room. It had not been a slight insect and upon close inspection a man in a house. She looked at it for a few moments; then in a loud voice she asked me to go to the room, wherever he might be, to keep him from the evil he intended to commit, to blow and lead him to better ways.

She had barely finished when he came from his hiding place and addressed her, saying: "Master, you have found me, a lesson I shall never forget. My mother taught me to pray just as you have prayed tonight when I was but a little child, and with these words he left me, and we have never seen him since."—Cor. New York Press.

In Two Cities.
The average man who makes the trip to Hartford to see the bridge can save himself very differently at the two ends of the line. On the New York side he manifests the utmost ignorance to the bridge, he walks up the stairs, he comes to, and then looks at a man, as if he hopes of catching upon the spot his speed. A Brooklyn philosopher remarks that he has never seen a man who has not been there, he has more time. He walks away from the car as if he had no further reason to stay. Instead of fighting for a first place on the stairway, he looks along at it as if he were a man. A Brooklyn philosopher remarks that he has never seen a man who has not been there, he has more time.
